BRITISH COLUMBIA: PURCELL MOUNTAINS HIKE

British Columbia is a wild place where Mother Nature creates the boundaries. On this six-day adventure, you'll meet a grizzly bear face-to-face, eat lunch on a mountaintop, and ooh and ahh over a spectacular waterfall. Mid-trip, helicopter in to a backcountry lodge in the midst of the Purcell Mountains where your toughest choices of the day will be "which direction should I hike" and "what time do I want to eat dinner?" You're going to need a long list of superlatives to describe what you see on this trip: 'amazing,' 'spectacular' and 'wow' will only go so far. Discover Canada's westernmost province to find a region of unforgettable adventure, dramatic scenery, and astounding natural beauty.
